Garden Spot Showmen Return With Ribbons

Lancaster County showmen started off in winning stlye last Sunday by sweeping every prize in the tobacco show and finished the major competition on Thursday by taking both top prizes in the steer division at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Between Sunday and Thursday, county exhibitors followed the precedent of many years in bringing championships and other high awards back to the Garden Spot.

Beginning last Sunday, highlights of Lancaster County's Farm Show winnings include the Grand Champion hand of wrapper tobacco, exhibited by J. Arthur Swarr, Landisville and the grand champion hand of filler tobacco shown by Richard Buckwalter, Lititz R3.

Misses Second Try

On Monday, R. Edwin Harnish, the 15 year old Solanco High School Future Farmer from Christiana R1, narrowly missed the top spot in the Ayrshire breed He showed last year's grand champion to the breed's reserve spot after taking the grand champion of the 4-H show. His cousin, Marilyn Harnish, Quarryville R2, took top honors in the Ayrshire showmanship contest and the reserve championship of the 4-H Ayrshire show.

On the same day, Miss Jean Miller, Elizabethtown R1 showed her lightweight Southdown wether to the grand championship of the market lamb class.

C. Warren Leininger, Denver, kept Lancaster County in the championship columns Tuesday when his Junior Spring Gilt took the purple rosette in the Spotted Poland China division of the swine show.

Success Story

A real success story came to light Wednesday when Tom Daugherty, a Kirkwood 4-H member showing two bulls from his newly-established Hereford herd took second place in class with one and went all the way to the top with the other. Daugherty was the only Hereford breeder from the county to exhibit in the show this year. A half sister to the champion bull stood second in her class to the grand champion Hereford female in the 1960

Livestock Producers Meet To Consider Grading

Should Pennsylvania have a Livestock Grading program? Representatives of the livestock industry in the state will be asked to express opinions on this question at a series of meetings next week.

The controversal issue of grading livestock at markets throughout the state will be discussed at a meeting in the John Neff School, Neffsville, four miles north of Lancaster on Rt. 501, January 17 at 7:30 p.m.

All livestock producers, marketing agents, packers and others interested in livestock, whether in favor of grading or against, are invited to attend the meeting, ask questions, and express their opinions.

The meetings, called by the Livestock Industry Study Committee of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Agriculture Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University, are designed to receive the opinions of all persons interested in livestock.

The initial program would include the grading of feeder pigs and calves, veal calves and market lambs on a basis similar to the ones used by Virginia and West Virginia.

Any grading service would be on a voluntary basis. This would mean that any livestock market operator could request the service and would pay for the service. Producers could also select whether or not to have their livestock graded.

Grading would permit the sale of livestock by description and bring about a decrease of misunderstanding.

Why Christ Came

Lesson for January 15, 1961

WHEN we speak of some one's background, we usually mean his boyhood home, his family for perhaps generations back, his schooling, all the influences that made him what he is, or at least got him started in the direction which he has followed in the years since then. What was the background of Jesus? Readers of John 1 will remember the background in Eternity, the background in God. Chapter 3 goes farther into this. Suppose it is true that Christ was the Son of God, the eternal "Word;" this still leaves us asking, but why did the Word "become flesh," become a human being? The great answer to that question is in John 3:16: God's love for the world.

Dr. Foreman

The Love of God

If any one asks why God should love the world, we can only say that it is God's nature to love. Yet isn't the world too bad for God to love? Well, it is; so that the love of God is in itself the fundamental miracle beside which all other miracles are small things. This word "world" is used by writers in the New Testament, and by John himself, in various ways. It can mean the universe, the physical world; or it can mean all that is evil and opposite to God; or it can mean the race of mankind. This last is the meaning in John 3:16, no doubt.

The reader will want to ponder over the stupendous truth that God loves the world. (Yes, still in the 20th century with all its bloody crimes If it is true only that God once-upon-a-time loved the world, but not now, then indeed we are lost.) But let us ask another question: Is God like a helpless mother reading about her wayward son in the crime news, or is he like a lazy grandfather watching the children getting into mischief and th only "Those are cute kids!" like an adoring bride, "Wh my darling boy does is all with me?" No, God's love is woven with his wisdom a holiness. His love for the makes him do something fo world: in one tremendous wo save it.

The Life of God

Take the word, the idea, th of "save" and "salvation" "savior" out of the Christian ion and you have nothing left word "save" is explained in ious ways in the New Testa John's favorite and basic exp tion is in another short but namic word: LIFE. God love world—that is, the people h world—so that he sends his Son; but beyond that sendin hope and a promise: that "w ever believes in him should eternal life." This eternal l not simply a life that pe through death. Jean Sartre written a play "No Exit" in w the three characters are all men, that is, they have died they still exist. The horrible t as each of them learns, is cannot really die, they are im tal. Each wants to kill the o —but it cannot be done. wishes to commit suicide; but cannot be done either. Merely less life would be a hellish t

The Choice of Man

Nothing less than eternal l God's gift, God's offer, to man God does not bestow this a matically on all men. No o shut out from it. But there fateful clause and condition not said, God sent his Son so everybody would have eternal It is said rather, God sent hi so that whoever believes in should have eternal life. God, ator of the race of man, has strangely made man to be su creature that he can say No to himself. It is possible for me refuse God's gift of life. It is sible to turn one's back on J whether in sorrow (like the young ruler) or in anger (lik Pharisees). But why — some may say—why must I belie Jesus? That is one of the p points of John's Gospel. Jesu so to speak, the translation of into the language of man To lieve in Jesus is to believe in God has no better way of ma himself known than in Jesus

THIS WEEK
—In Washington
With Clinton Davidson
Christian Leader

When John F. Kennedy taes the oath of office as President of the United States next week he will become the temporal leader of what is generally called the Christian world at a critical time in the history of mankind

The United States is the Good Samaritan to which Christian people in many lands look for strength, understanding, compassion, freedom and guidance. If we fail, and Communism takes over, Christianity may face its darkest days in almost 2,000 years.

As President of the most powerful, prosperous and generous nation on earth, Mr. Kennedy will have a great responsibility. not alone to the United States but to the peoples of all nations who aspire to freedom and peace.

Challenge to Christianity

Communist leaders are atheists who reject Christian principles and teachings. Their only "religion" is power and force ruthlessly used to stamp out freedom and deny Christ's teaching that in the sight of God there is no distinction of class, race, wealth, color, position or power.

They talk of "peace," but the peace they seek is a world in which there no longer is any opposition to communism and domination by communist leaders. Communism is the antithesis of Christianity.

The great world struggle for the minds and souls of men is between Christian freedom and pagan dictatorship.

A Time of Decision

Mr Kennedy becomes President at a time of unprecedented world crisis; at a time when the Free World must match force with force, and pray that it will not have to be used.

It is a terrible responsibility that requires both wisdom and patience. We walk on the brink of disaster, where just one mistake could plunge the whole world into an unthinkable catastrophe.

Four out of every ten people in the world live under the domination of ruthless communist leaders The spread of communist influence threatens to engulf another four of the ten in Asia South America and Africa, as it already has in Cuba.

As President of the most powerful of the so-called Christian nations, Mr. Kennedy faces a challenge and a responsibility perhaps unparalled since the pagan hordes of Asia crushed civilization into the Dark Age.

FARMERS VIGIL

By: Carol Dean Huber

Days are short and nights are long;
Here the winter's dreary song?
Everything is fast asleep,
While the farmer watch will keep.

This is time to plan and rest
So that he is at his best,
When the spring is here he can
Carry out his winter's plan.

Now Is The Time . . .

BY MAX SMITH

MAX SMITH

TO PREVENT SWINE FLU—Swine Flu has been quite common in Pennsylvania in recent years The disease strikes quickly with a high fever, loss of appetite coughing, and mucous discharge from eyes and nose. Prevention measures include keeping hogs away from old straw stacks and providing them with dry, draft-free quarters and plenty of fresh water Local veterinarian should be consulted if above symptoms appear.

TO CHECK SHEEP FOR WOOL BLINDNESS — Some flocks of sheep at this time of the year will need the wool trimmed from around their eyes. With sheep that have considerable wool about the face this should be an annual practice; the Shropshire breed may need this treatment before any others. Open-faced sheep such as Cheviots or Suffolks will not need this attention. With wool blindness the wool grows shut over the eyes and the animals cannot see

TO INCLUDE PLANNING FOR 1961—All good farmers must plan ahead for several years. Now that we can look back on 1960 and observe some mistakes and other things which we might have done differently, we should look ahead and make solid plans for the coming year. A good system of farm record keeping is very important; farm account books are available. We urge producers to study all phases of production and marketing in their particular field; learn the maximum in order to be an efficient operator.

TO SEGREGATE FARM SHOW ANIMALS—Breeding animals that are returned from the Farm Show Building should be kept separate from the rest of the herd or flock for at least three weeks. This is especially true if the remainder of the herd has not been treated against shipping fever Many heavy losses have occured when show animals spread the infection to other unprotected animals in the barn.

In Broiler Production . . .

as in other phases of the poultry industry

SANITATION PAYS!

One of our customers from Lebanon County, a grower with an excellent reputation, had increasingly poor results in one of his broiler flocks.

TROUBLES GALORE . . .

. . . SICKNESS

. . . AIRSAC

. . . CONDEMNATIONS, ETC., ETC.

Couldn't understand it, and for some time we could not either.

Finally some of the trouble was identified as being carried over from flock to flock by some dust left above the rafters and behind the insulation in his poultry house.

It took 300 MAN HOURS to perfectly clean this 20,000 capacity house. Everything gleamed as if brand new.

DID IT PAY?

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF!

Before the house cleaning: (20,000 bird flock)

Age	Weight	Conversion	Mortality	Rejects
9.2	3.14	2.57	11%	1153 head
10.0	3.66	2.46	6%	724 head

After house cleaning:

Age	Weight	Conversion	Mortality*	Condemnation deducted
9.1	3.86	2.28	3½%	88 lbs.

* some chick mortality due to epidemic tremors.

Moral of this story:

Good Sanitation (old fashioned cleanliness) and Profits in Mass Poultry Meat Production go Hand in Hand!

BE PREPARED

Best defense against a farm fire is a good fire extinguisher located in the right place Ralph Patterson, Penn State extension agricultural engineer, suggests every farm and home be esuipped with suitable hand extinguishers that are properly maintained and easily reached if needed.

SKATING HELPS

Skating on the farm pond benefits fish life, according to Robert Wingard, extension wildlife management specialist. Skaters keep the snow cleared, thus permitting sunlight to penetrate the ice and water beneath.

Seafood In Your Menu

By Mrs. Richard C. Spence

A welcome main rish as a change from the heavy eating of the recent holidays could be seafood. Fresh seafood, frozen seafood or canned seafood—any way you like it — can make you some mighty delcious eating.

One of the ways to prepare seafood with the lowest caloric value is to broil it. You can broil fish as follows.

BROILED FISH

¾ pound fresh or frozen thawed fillets or
1 pound fish steaks or
1½ pounds whole or split fish

1. Preheat broiler for ten minutes, or as manufacturer directs.

2 For easy cleaning, line the bottom of the broiler pan with aluminum foil, which can be rolled up and discarded after broiling..

3. Arrange fish, skin side down, on greased broiler rack.

4. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper, paprika, lemon juice.

5. Broil fish about 2 or 3 inches from the heat Fillets and split fish are not turned. Steaks and whole dressed fish should be turned and broiled on both sides.

Fish fillet ¼ to ½ in thick 6 to 8 minutes

Fish steaks ½ to 1½ in. thick, 8 to 16 minutes

Whole, dressed fish, 5 to 8 minutes on one side. 6 to 8 minutes on other side.

Split fish, 6 to 12 minutes. Do not overcook fish. When it flakes easily with a fork, it is done, Serves two.

BROILED SCALLOPS

1½ pounds scallops, fresh or frozen
⅓ cup butter or other fat, melted
½ teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
Dash paprika
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¾ cup butter or other fat, melted
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Thaw scallops if frozen. Remove any shell particles and wash Cut large scallops in half. Place on a greased broiler pan. Combine butter, salt, pepper, and paprika. Brush scallops with seasoned butter. Broil about 3 inches from source of heat for 3 to 4 minutes. Turn carefully. Brush other side with seasoned butter and broil 3 to 4 minutes longer Sprinkle with parsley. Combine butter and lemon juice; serve with scallops. Serves six.

* * *

Nice to serve with broiled scallops is this

CRANBERRY HORSE-RADISH RELISH

1 can (1 pound) whole cranberry sauce
¼ cup French dressing
2 teaspoons horse-radish

Combine cranberry sauce, French dressing, and horse radish. Chill. Makes about 1 pint of relish.

OVEN-FRIED FISH FILLETS

2 pounds fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup dry bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or other fat, melted

Thaw frozen fillets. Cut fillets into serving-size portions. Add salt to milk. Dip fillets in milk and roll in crumbs; place in a well greased baking pan. Sprinkle each piece of fish with butter. Bake in an extremely hot oven, 500 degrees, for 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily when testing with a fork. Serves 6.

* * *

Serve Cranberry Wedges with fried fish fillets—

CRANBERRY WEDGES

1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce, chilled
1 lemon

Cut cranberry sauce into 1½-inch slices. Cut each slice into 4 wedges. Slice the lemon crosswise Cut each slice in half. Stand cranberry wedges on rounded ends on a relish dish. Slit top of each wedge to hold a lemon slice. Insert lemon slice. Makes 12 wedges.

½ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon celery salt

Mix in order given, chill; serve. Allow approximately two tablespoons sauce per serving.

Other pork cuts that are growing in popularity are back ribs, country ribs, and spareribs. Back ribs and country ribs have a high proportion of lean to fat. These cuts are often made from the familiar rib roast by splitting diagonally thru the bone and meat rib eye. This leaves a portion of lean on the backbone and an equal amount of lean pork on the small ribs. The spareribs are cut from the pieces used for making bacon. All three kinds of ribs lend themselves especially well to barbecuing, whether the barbecue sauce is added to the ribs as they cook in the oven or in the outdoor grill or rotisserie.

Spareribs are particularly tasty cooked with sauerkraut. Often the modern cook first roasts the spareribs in a hot oven for a short time and pours off any accumulation of fat Then a thick and spicy barbecue sauce and cover are added to complete the cooking in a slow oven. Some outdoor cooks shorten the charcoal cooking time by cooking the ribs in water indoors first. The drained spareribs are ready to go to the outdoor grill to be brushed with the barbecue sauce and heated to brown and cook thoroughly. Like all fresh pork, spareribs should be well-done.

Best Food Buys

Prime and Choice Beef Higher

Food shoppers will be greeted by slightly higher prices on prime and choice grades of beef this weekend, reports Tom Piper, Penn State Extension Marketing Agent. Farmers have been holding their beef cattle on the farms to feed away soft corn supplies from the recent harvest. With current demand exceeding the supply, retail beef prices are forced to higher levels.

Chicken will be the best buy of the week at the meat counter in many retail food stores During January, marketings of chickens are expected to be up about 12 per cent from the previous year with price levels attractive to consumers. Some retailers will feature pork chops and roasts but price levels on pork remain generally unchanged from levels of recent weeks.

White crab meat is currenty in plentiful supply and is considered a good buy item. Oyster prices remain high and shrimp, usually marketed in the frozen form holds at unchanged price levels Storage stocks of haddock are down and prices are already moving up in anticipation of the approaching observance of Lent.

Egg movement continues good but the unsettled price situation has produced an eight-cent drop in the whole sale price of large eggs since New Years day. Eggs hold a good buy position and the large size eggs offer the most value for your money on a weight basis.

More inclimate weather in western growing areas has caused further damage to the unharvested lettuce crop. This not only results in mediocre quality, but because of the influence on supply. causes our retail prices to move up. Rains have hampered havesting operations in Texas and will force temporary price increases on such items as green beans, cucumbers, carrots, spring onions, egg plant, squash, and peppers

All cabbage is reasonably priced but the best buy is the old crop cabbage harvested last fall. Celery, western cauliflower, white potatoes and tomatoes are incuded in the list of good buys for this weekend.

Unchanged price levels for apples, bananas, cranberries and Emperor grapes.

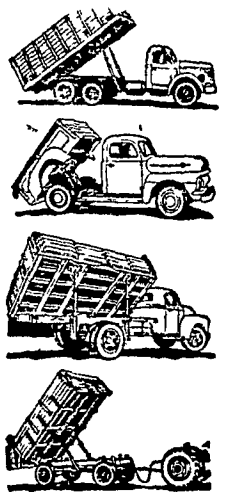
HARSH HYDRAULIC HOISTS



The 32 available models come to you with a wide range of lifting capacities ranging from 3½ to 20 tons for your truck, pickup, or trailer. The smooth, trouble-free action of a HARSH HOIST has a fast lifting time of from 12 to 160 seconds, which allows more time for actual hauling.

To design and build a light-weight, low-costing truck hoist suitable for all types of farm use, priced within the average farmer's budget was the aim of "Bud" Harsh when HYDRAULICS UNLIMITED MFG. CO. began operations. This hoist was built and is now in use throughout the nation.

The HARSH HYDRAULIC HOIST averages only $328.52 (including Federal excise tax) and maintains a low taxable weight which averages 273 lbs. These economical hoists are built for either back or side dumping, depending upon your need.

Save costly time and eliminate back-breaking labor by unloading with a HARSH HYDRAULIC HOIST engineered for economical, speedy, and durable farm use.

OLIVER 90-Bushel No. 170
Speeds Up Spreading 4 Ways

One: This brawny new, ground-drive No. 170 has extra stamina, permits spreading at higher speeds. Its stout construction also gives you additional years of service at low upkeep.
Two: The 90-bushel, rot-resistant wood box is exceptionally low, end to end, to make loading faster and easier. There's no overhead cylinder arch in the way.
Three: Perfect balance adds weight to the tractor drawbar, increases traction in soft, muddy lots and fields. The big 6-bar main cylinder and Hammermill Widespread assure fine shredding and even coverage. And you have a choice of spreading rates—4 to 24 loads per acre.
Four: A short-coupled frame simplifies backing and maneuvering. The self-locking hitch stand makes hookup convenient. Heavy-duty roller bearings in the wheels (18 or 20 inches) lighten draft. Make your next spreader a sturdy, dependable, light-running Oliver.

Steer Champion

Newsmen had a field day Thursday when 16 year old Maria Frey of Quarryville R2 nudged her trim 920 lb. Angus to the top of the steer show. As judge Dick Sour, former herdsman at Penn State University, patted the rump of her steer, emotion overwhelmed the young high school girl.

Runner-up was another Quarryville R2 steer. The Hereford shown by Fred Linton was named reserve champion of the show.

The banner proclaiming championship was presented to Miss Frey by state Secretary of Agriculture, William L. Henning.

As flash bulbs popped and moving picture cameras ground, Rose Marie Linton, also a close personal friend of Maria, who had been rooting for her brother, brought tearful congratulations to the winner.

Home Economics

Homemakers from the county accounted for 53 ribbons in foods, home making and home economics during the show. Seven of the ribbons were blue.

County apple growers brought home 48 ribbons, the most ever win by Garden Spot orchardists, but most of them were runner up placings to some of the "Apple County" entries. Masonic Homes, Elizabethtown and Daniel A. Brubaker, Ephrata R1, took a lions share of the ribbons.

Daniel Brubaker also accounted for three blue ribbons in the vegetable division.

Paul Trimble, Quarryville R1, made it three in a row by taking the championship in the 4-H corn contest, and two other county exhibitors placed second and third.

Other farm show results begin on page four.

Because of the increase in the average size of farms, expenditure per farm will continue to rise in 1961, according to extension farm management specialists at Penn State. Items that will tend to keep costs higher will be interest rates, taxes, wage rates and new machinery.

Food costs have risen less since 1947-49 than most other consumer items. For all items, the increase to April 1960 was 26.2 percent. For food, the increase was 19.5 percent.
